After being raised in the military family that gave its name to Ft. Bliss, Texas, I have tried to live a normal civilian life. After serving in the U.S. Army during the Vietnam Era, I have tried to live a normal civilian life. But like many “military brats” and veterans, I have not always adjusted so well to life outside the service. I spent over 20 years being militarized and have now lived nearly 40 years demilitarizing myself. These formative first two decades have been hard to overcome, though I can usually cope and pass. Then war breaks out again...

After a dozen years of writing and reading our work to each other, our Veterans’ Writing Group will release a book in September. Edited by award-winning author Maxine Hong Kingston and published by Koa Books, it is entitled “Veterans of War, Veterans of Peace.” (Information at www.vvowp.org.) It includes storytelling—nonfiction, fiction and poetry—by 80 veterans spanning five wars. The writers are combat veterans, medics, others who served in war, gang members and victims of violence, draft resisters, deserters and peace activists. Unfortunately, our book is timely, as the war drums grow louder every day.

Our group emerged from workshops given by Vietnamese Buddhist monk Thich Nhat Hanh. By writing within the group and listening to the stories of others I have been supported to understand, describe, and heal from some of my military trauma. Our writers’ community seeks to heal war trauma through art and produce writing that can communicate to those both in the service and civilians.

After decades of counseling in groups, at Vets Centers, and with therapists, I still have more work to do. My sound trauma still gets triggered, and I typically respond with the classic flight or fight. Certain sounds agitate and irritate me, so I usually just leave the scene. Leaf blowers, ticking clocks, people talking while chewing gum or eating, and other sounds can literally drive me crazy.

My contribution to the book is about sound trauma and is entitled “Sound Shy,” a play on the term “gun shy.” It is an insider’s personal account of a military family and a veterans group. My childhood was filled with loud sounds—including planes taking off near our house, rifles and other weapons being fired, and men yelling orders at each other and responding “Yes, Sir!” My adult life has been characterized by sound avoidance. I can go to considerable extremes to get away from sounds that others do not even notice or tolerate.

I never saw combat in Vietnam, though I have war wounds to heal. While still in the Army I went with a friend to hear Martin Luther King, Jr. His way of being was such a contrast to the many military men who had been my models. I decided to resign my officer’s commission and joined the resistance.

Such memories often seem distant, like they did not really happen to me, but to someone in a novel. Being in the Veterans’ Writing Group has enabled me to process some of my feelings within a structure that provided support. I always look forward to our gatherings, even when I cannot attend. Just knowing that a group of veterans that I am a part of is meeting to write and heal supports me.

But war continues to happen, making more casualties and spreading its destruction. I remember a few years of relative peace. But when the bombs start falling, they seem to head right for my stomach. I feel them in my body. The casualties may be distant, but they feel close to home to me. So I keep writing, though usually from a safe enough distance, leaving some of the more difficult things inside.

Things happen. When the first Iraq War erupted, I remember sitting with a Chicano friend whose son was in the military, watching television. “Brown on brown,” she commented, noting how much the Chicano and other dark youths on the American front look like the Iraqi boys fighting.

Things happen. On Sept. 11, 2001, war had once again reached me. Sept. 11 was also the date that the Chilean military launched its coup, 1973, so it has long been an anniversary date of loss for me.

Now we have another Iraq War. Iran may be next. I try to lead a normal civilian life. But I know what is happening. I do not need to watch it on TV, which obscures much of the real story. Books like “Veterans of War, Veterans of Peace” and documentary films like “Sir, Nor Sir,” in which two members of our vets group appear, are more helpful to reveal the realities of war than the sanitized, corporate media.

Though she is not in our book, many years ago Deena Metzger wrote a poem that our book echoes:

There are those who are trying to set fire to the world.

We are in danger.

There is time only to work slowly.

There is no time not to love.

Greetings from the Chair

Several years ago I attended a seminar centered on Carl Jung’s philosophy. Though I’ve forgotten many of the details of that weekend, two things have stuck with me.

The first is a simple observation that there were about 25 attendees, yet all but two of us were women. It’s interesting that women seem to be more willing to step out and learn more about themselves and life. Is that part of our macho men’s culture, afraid of appearing weak if we need to ask for directions, even in the serious business of navigating the road of life?

The other is something I find myself applying over and over. As we all know, life is full of peaks, plains, and valleys. What I learned is that we usually gain our most valuable lessons, not when everything is running smoothly or when we’re on top of the world, but when we’re in the valleys.

When we are aware of this, it helps us to be open to embracing those down times for the opportunities that they present for growth. It doesn’t make the pain any easier, but I believe that it does help us to face it head on and with greater strength.

One of the strong hindrances to overcoming any addiction, be it alcohol, drug, sex, or anger, is the practice of denial. If we can’t admit we have a problem, how can we possibly deal with it? Accepting the valleys in our life helps us to accept ourselves, including all of our weaknesses and shortcomings; things that are much more clear to us when we are not “all-powerful”. With this acceptance and awareness, we can see the valleys, not as good or bad, but as an integral part of the fabric of life. Then we can begin the process of becoming the complete person that we are meant to be.

Mini-Review of Veterans of War, Veterans of Peace

I have the somewhat mixed pleasure of reading the book: Veterans of War, Veterans of Peace edited by Maxine Hong Kingston, Kea Books 2006, ISBN 10:0-9773338-3-3. I say somewhat mixed because some of the stories reminded me of the pain our country inflicted upon the Vietnamese people in the 1960s. I was reminded, too, of the pain that men brought home with them from Vietnam.

I was a Marine from 1968-1971 and performed body escort in 1969. That is, I escorted the remains of dead Marines home to their families. That’s the extremely condensed version of the story I tell high school students.

The essays in the book grew out of writing workshops that Ms. Kingston offered for veterans in the San Francisco bay area in the 80s and 90s. These men poured their souls into their works. If you want to get a taste of what war is like from the point of view of the men who walked the trails and watched good men suffer and die, I recommend you seek out this book.

PRESENTATIONS

Nearly every Wednesday evening, the Men’s Center is proud to offer a presentation on a wide range of subjects of interest to men as well as to our community. This tradition has been part of the Men’s Center offering since it’s founding 30 years ago. These drop-in meetings require no pre-registration, and volunteer experts in the respective subjects conduct them all. Because of our primary mission, all presentations are for men only unless it is otherwise indicated in the individual descriptions.

Please read through these various descriptions to determine which is of interest to you, and consider bringing a friend. This could be an excellent introduction to the Men’s Center for them.

Each presentation is intended to foster personal growth and to stimulate interest in the topic. Our presenters include: Kevin Eliza, Sue Gunter, Kelley Lorix, Andy Mickel, Keith Pederson, and Sharol Tyra.

A small fee is collected at the door for each person attending:
- Non-Members of TMC – $5.
- Regular Members ($20 level) – $3
- Sustaining Members – FREE

All presentations meet at The Men’s Center, 3249 Hennepin Ave. So., Suite 55 Minneapolis, MN 55408

We welcome your suggestions for new topics and speakers. Please call Randy at 612-822-5892 with your ideas.

The Men’s Center does not endorse, take no specific position, nor does it hold any opinion on the presentations, or of any information imparted, of or the presenter(s) themselves. Presentations are the sole product and responsibility of the presenter(s).

DESCRIPTIONS

See the Vision & Succeed

Presenter: Sharol Tyra
When: Feb. 7, 7:00-9:00 p.m.
Open to Men and Women 18 or over

Sharol inspires them to be responsible for their happiness long after the session is over — including previous seminars at The Men’s Center! She was featured on TV, Radio and publications. Sharol helps High Achievers bring out potential in themselves and other people! Visit www.SharolTyra.com

A Circle of Warriors

Presenter: Andy Mickel
When: Feb. 14, 7:00-9:00 p.m.

The Mankind Project is an organization of men working together to improve their lives and help other men. As New Warriors “We are an order of men called to reclaim the sacred masculine provides a model for men to generate and maintain a world in such a way as to include and yet rise above one’s own issues for the betterment of one’s self, one’s own family, tribe, nation and race.”

We are all familiar with a man’s physical tools (a hammer, a sword, a plow,....) Is this enough? What about integrity, commitment, action and clarity? I know that most men want and need these tools. The New Warrior Training Adventure can help. Join a circle of warriors to ask questions and hear how the adventure has changed men’s lives.

“The initiation of men is the hope of the world.” - Don Jones, former chairman, ManKind Project.

Adrift – Navigating Our Sexual Lives

Part one of two (Part two on Mar 21)

Presenter: Keith Pederson
When: Feb. 21, 7:00-9:00 p.m.
Open to Gay/Bi and Questioning men and their allies

Have you ever felt as though there is conflicting information circulating about our sexual lives and how to be safer in your own sexual activities? As Gay/Bi men it can be a challenge even finding partners. Beyond that, some of the venues we use to meet other men for dating can bring specific challenges and/or risks.

Keith Pederson is an employee of PrideAlive (a program of the Minnesota AIDS Project).

Two Spirits & Gatekeeper

Presenter: Kevin Eliza
When: Feb. 28, 7:00-9:00 p.m.
Open to men and women.

On the fourth Sunday of each month, we have a “Gathering.” Its intention is to provide a space for us all to come and just socialize and BE, still. A safe place where we can receive the LOVE from one another for just being who we are and share our stories.

Issues Relating to Divorce

Presenter: Kelley Lorix
When: Mar. 7, 7:00-9:00 pm
Open to Men and Women

Kelley’s presentation will include how to prepare financially and strategically for divorce, child support, spousal maintenance, custody and visitation – what the options are and how it will affect your property – what happens to the house, pensions and other items acquired during the marriage. This session will include question and answer session geared — helping you with the exact problems you may be faced with in your lives.

A private practice attorney, Kelley Lorix has better than fourteen years in state courts throughout Minnesota litigating, arbitrating and mediating the issues of concern to all of us as we go through divorce. Kelley has presented numerous times at the Men’s Center.

Adrift – Navigating Our Sexual Lives

Part two of two (Part one on Feb. 21)

Presenter: Keith Pederson
When: Mar 21, 7:00-9:00 p.m.

Our intention is to have an annual fundraiser Pow Wow type of events and bring individuals form all over the world. Come be part and set the example for those possibly searching, to find the LIGHT that our combined threads create. We seek and are open to everyone.

Further details can be obtained from Kevin or Ron via 612-870-3667 or Twospiritsmnm@yahoo.com

Resumes for the New Career – Playing Society's Game!

Presenter: Sue Varness-Gunder
When: Apr. 4, 7:00-9:00 p.m.
Open to, men, women, and children.

This session will discuss resume writing, interviewing, the “hidden job market,” and learning how to motivate yourself to obtain the career you want. You will see how to make the most of the job when you have it. It comes to learning how to play the game. Bring your own resume along, and be prepared to ask your own questions.

Sue Gunder is Career Development Manager at PPL Industries, a local program of the local charity PPL. She has more than 9 years in the program of helping people enter the mainstream job market. In all she has more than 18 years experience working with the “hard to employ”. These include persons recently released from prison, the homeless, some veterans, and individuals with chemical dependencies. You can reach Sue at: PPL Industries, 1779 15th Ave SE, Minneapolis MN 55414.

SUPPORT GROUPS

“The mission of the Men’s Center Support Groups is to create a safe place, in times of personal and social challenges, for any men and women to receive and give support to one another and share feelings and experiences to facilitate SELF-ACCEPTANCE and PERSONAL GROWTH.”

The Men’s Center support groups are hosted by a trained facilitator. Although each group has a specific focus, all groups are Open to general discussions and attended as a Drop-In basis. Support groups begin promptly at 7:30, so arrive early such that you can browse the many resources and library materials. A donation of $3-9 helps keep TMC operational. Liquid refreshments are available at a separate donation rate. All groups are men only, except where listed for women and men.

Addiction Busters
Open to Men and Women

Struggling with chemical or behavioral addiction? AA not helping you? Frustrated with twelve-step programs? Don’t like feeling powerless? Want to bust your addiction rather than being busted for your addiction? Would you like to talk about Rational Recovery, SMART Recovery, the works of Stanton Peele, Ann Fletcher, James Prochaska and others in a supportive, confidential, comfortable atmosphere? Come to Addiction Busters support group and discuss alternative, cognitive approaches that may help you battle your addiction in new and different ways!

- Tuesdays 7:30-9:30 pm

General Men’s Issues/Divorce/Uncoupling/Family/Workplace

Men express feelings about separation, divorce, breaking up with a lover, and topics such as child custody/legal hassles. Men can express what it means to be a man in our culture and other issues in their lives.

- Mondays 12:30-2:30 pm
- Thursdays 7:30-9:30 pm

Gay Issues
Men express feelings about life’s challenges and experiences, and what it means to be gay and male (you don’t have to be gay to attend.)

- Tuesdays 7:30-9:30 pm

Transitions
This group is intended to focus on the difficulties persons face when leaving a prison environment and reentering the community, where a former prisoner can go for emotional support when he returns to the community, and where he can be openly honest about his discouragements, frustrations, temptations, and fear of public attitudes.

- Wednesdays 7:30-9:30 pm

Male Survivors of Sexual Abuse
You may feel alone. It is a brave step to seek out other men who can share from this perspective the deep feelings of shame. Only by talking it out can freedom evolve from this secret prison.

- Thursdays 7:30-9:30 pm

Two Spirits & Gatekeeper Community

Annual Facilitator Training Report

This year’s training was led by Randy Genrich and Norm Petrlik. Hank Bruns the long time trainer was unable to be present. 10 men and one woman participated in the training which is expected of all facilitators. Several new persons interested in facilitating attended which is wonderful, as support groups are the heart of the men’s center and they need good leadership. Thank you facilitators.

Anger Management Program
The focus of the twelve week anger management class is both education and support. Through class interaction, experiential exercises, lecture, and homework assignments, men will develop new ways to manage their feelings of anger. Following completion of the class, participants can join an ongoing support group to reinforce their new skills. These ongoing support groups will also be facilitated by the trained volunteer facilitators.

Length of Class:
12 consecutive weeks (next class begins Monday, Dec. 4)

Number of Participants:
Space is limited to 12 participants with 2 facilitators per class

Cost:
$215 for Men Center Members ($225 for Non-Members)

Starting Dates:
Classes are filled on a first come, first served basis. Please call TMC at 612-822-5892 to be placed on the waiting list. State name, address, telephone, preferred starting class. Or if you need further details, call our Anger Management coordinator, John Hesch, on the Anger Management phone 612-229-3102.

Another Day in the Life

The face I find in the mirror is not superman’s.
still, I am sure I am some superhero,
but then, in the shower
the soap slips out of my hand, resounding, slithering, sliding around in the bottom of the tub.

I am gloriously human,
my sweat washed off, the grime gone, clean —
the day’s soil, if not sins, scrubbed away —
but no cigar, no special powers,
though I do leap out of the tub
in a single bound.
