Drowning in Sorrow

© 2008 BY ANDREW WILLIAMS

The story I am about to tell is one that has recently come back to haunt me because of recent events in my life. I need to tell it because of how it is a mirror image of what is happening in my personal development and my feelings as a man. Similar parallels can occur in everyone's lives and I hope that men and women alike, can heal, learn and grow from them.

When I was about 8 or 10 years old my parents signed me up for swimming lessons. I was dropped off at the pool with my best friend Dave and we were in the same class. All the children were divided into groups for the different levels. Dave and I went with our group and were instructed to do a number of laps back and forth across the pool and then to meet up with an organizer for further training. As we were making our way through the series of laps I realized that Dave and I were way behind the others. Many of these bigger and older kids had finished and moved on. I started to think, “Our names got listed incorrectly and we are in the wrong group.” As we struggled to make it through the laps I noticed Dave, a little behind me, went to the edge of the pool and dragged himself out. Clearly we were spent. Then a ways further out I knew I was about out of gas. I thought; try to make it to Dave’s side of the pool. One or two strokes; no, maybe I was closer to the teacher’s side of the pool. I was back in the middle. As far away from safety one can be. A feeling of helplessness came over me. Trying to tread water and rest I started to drown. Maybe for about the first minute of struggling I managed crying for help. Next was I swallowing lots of water and attempting to keep my head up. I will never forget looking back at Dave. The look in his eyes was: “I barely had enough energy to save myself. I can’t save you. I’m sorry”. He looked very scared. I thought that I was going to die there and for some reason I could not differentiate between which one of us was in the worse of circumstances. I looked at the swim teacher and for the first moments the look was: “Stop screwing around kid. This is no joke.” It was far from it.

As my body started to slow to a stop I knew the oxygen in me was from my last breath. Being that I no longer could keep my nose or mouth above the water, it wouldn't be long before I would be gone. As I was drifting off, out of the corner of my eye I saw the swim teacher’s face. Her eyes were huge and it was sheer terror. She knew this was no prank. She jumped in, swam out, and pulled me up on the grating around the edge of the pool where I lay shivering and scared.

I am learning that in these times that there are many men that are struggling with issues and some of us are having an extremely tough time with our role, our duties, and which “group” we fit into. Most of all, what is our value? Sometimes when one of us breaks down and asks for help, sometimes our peers are too overwhelmed themselves to assist us. Support from other elements of our society can occasionally lend a hand. The fact that is the most difficult for me to take is that there are many others that just as soon watch us drown.

Andrew Williams is a new Men's Center member and was recently elected to the Board.
Greetings from the Chair

The Twin Cities Men Center, now in its 32nd year of public service, held its annual meeting this past January 12th. We had the opportunity to review our performance in the past year, review and revise our strategic planning, and show our appreciation for our many dedicated volunteers. About twenty members and friends of the Men’s Center were in attendance.

On January 14, 2008, the Monday following the annual meeting, we conducted our first monthly Men’s Center board meeting for 2008. I am very pleased to announce the addition of two new men to our board per their nomination and successful votes at the annual meeting; Joe Szujzewska and Andrew Williams. I ask that all of you take some time to welcome them to their new tasks as board members for the Men’s Center and to listen to their ideas and passion for work around men’s issues.

The officers who were elected to serve on the board for 2008 include: Norm Petrak as secretary; Gerald Obremski as treasurer; Ron Strangerhorse as vice chairman; and, myself, Bobby Schauerhamer, as chairman of the board. Please take the time to congratulate these men and offer your support of their efforts in these important functions.

Several successes have been made possible in this past year by the many volunteers who have dedicated hundreds of hours of time. We have seen some growth in the numbers of men who are attending our weekly support groups. We continue to have a vigorous anger management program with about 8, 12 week sessions scheduled per year.

Additionally, we have the tremendous consistency in the timely publication of the Men Talk, mailing of the Men Talk, and maintenance of an appropriate mailing list. Our web site has been regularly maintained and updated. Our finances are consistently documented and our taxes are submitted in a timely manner. Our meeting notes are being provided consistently and with lightning speed. Support groups are facilitated in a professional manner on a weekly basis by volunteers. All of these and many more tasks are among the credits of a dedicated group of skilled volunteers.

Proudly, I am once again chairman of the board of directors for this fine organization for 2008.

BOBBY SCHAUERHAMER,
BOARD CHAIR

Nearly every Wednesday evening, the Men’s Center is proud to offer a presentation on a wide range of subjects of interest to men as well as to our community. This tradition has been part of the Men’s Center offering since it’s founding 30 years ago. These drop-in meetings require no pre-registration, and volunteer experts in the respective subjects conduct them all. Because of our primary mission, all presentations are for men only unless it is otherwise indicated in the individual descriptions.

Please read through these various descriptions to determine which is of interest to you, and consider bringing a friend. This could be an excellent introduction to the Men’s Center for them. Each presentation is intended to foster personal growth and to stimulate interest in the topic.

Our presenters include: Merk Douglass, Gabe Hanson, Jay Maasch, Andy Mickel, and Volunteer Attorneys.

A small fee is collected at the door for each person attending:
- Non-Members of TMC – $5.
- Regular Members ($20 level) – $3
- Sustaining Members – FREE

All presentations meet at The Men’s Center, 3249 Hennepin Ave. So, Suite 55 Minneapolis, MN 55408

We welcome your suggestions for new topics and presenters. Please call Randy at 612-822-5892 with your ideas.

The Men’s Center does not endorse, take no specific position, nor does it hold any opinion on the presentations, or of any information imparted, of the presenter(s) themselves. Presentations are the sole product and responsibility of the presenter(s).

Facilitator Meeting Report

Ten men attended our annual facilitator training on January 12th after the Annual meeting. Several new men were there for the first time, and they were all thanked for their service to the Men’s Center leading support groups. We discussed various topics in the Facilitator manual, and gave people a chance to discuss concerns they have in leading groups. Randy Genrich and Norm Petrik led the training.
