What Can Be Done? — © 2010 by William B. Donnay

Our contemporary society includes many terrifying things. For many people John is one of those terrifying things. John is a convicted sex offender. He gets out of prison in a few weeks. He is scared knowing he has done terrible things to other people. He has deeply harmed the victims of his offense. The victim's family and friends have suffered because of his actions. John's family and friends have been hurt and many have abandoned him. In addition to these many individuals, the community in general has been damaged by crimes including those done by him. He is now re-entering that community.

Many people in the community do not want him to be released and they definitely do not want him anywhere near their community. Yet, John will be released and he will be returning to the community.

John has reached this point in his life after many irresponsible decisions. Some of those poor decisions may be a result of a disadvantaged childhood. Still he has had his share of second chances and failed. Yet he keeps trying. He has hope that this time will be different. This time he will find a job, a place to live and maybe a friend or two. He knows it won't be easy but he holds onto a sliver of hope that he too can have a 'normal life,' a life that includes work, a safe home and healthy relationships.

People in the community want a normal life too. They want to go for a walk without worry. They want their kids to play without fear. They want to be able to impact what happens in their community. They want their community to be safe for everyone. What can they do?

There is a program that is designed to give community members a way to increase their safety and help men like John safely transition from prison to community. It is called Minnesota Circles of Support and Accountability, also known as MnCoSA.

MnCoSA is a program operated by the Minnesota Department of Corrections. It is a unique re-entry program to support Level 2 sex offenders as they transition from institution to community. It is currently operating for offenders who are released to Hennepin, Ramsey or Olmsted counties. The program uses a circle of four to seven volunteers from the community to support one offender who is called the core member. Volunteers are screened, background checked, and interviewed by staff from the Department of Corrections. The volunteers complete training to prepare for their “job” as a circle member. Once the training is complete they meet with their core member in the institution where the core member is incarcerated for a series of visits until the core member’s release. The circle visits occur in the institution and allow for the circle to structure itself to allow for possibilities for speaking the truth, dropping masks and protections, acknowledging mistakes and fears, and acting in accordance with the circle’s core values.

Once the core member is released, the Circle meets at a community location which is agreeable to all circle members. The circle focuses on providing support to the offender as he struggles with the issues of finding work, residence, and positive social activities. The circle also holds the core member accountable to his responsibilities such as following conditions of supervision, making appointments, and taking care of daily tasks. In other words the circle talks about life and how to manage the daily demands.

As time goes by and the core member experiences a few months of successful transition the circle may decrease meeting frequency from once a week to once or twice a month. Eventually the circle may disband. Although friendships developed in circle frequently last long past the formal circle existence.

This program has been operating in Canada for many years and Canadian studies have shown dramatic reductions in recidivism. The Minnesota project is research based and will also result in a report on outcomes.

MnCoSA depends on volunteers from the community. Obviously this is a unique volunteer opportunity for a non professional to get a first hand experience of the correctional system and how it manages sex offenders. It is also a chance to spend some time with a person who is facing some of the most difficult and important decisions in his/her life and has asked for your support.

William B. Donnay is the director of the Risk Assessment Community Notification Unit, Minnesota Department of Corrections. He started the MnCoSA program, which is now directed by Joann Dillavou. If you wish to volunteer or get more information about this program please call her at 651-361-7593 or email at joann.Dillavou@state.mn.us.
Greetings from the Chair

As I write this the temperature has passed 50 degrees outside, not even halfway through March, and I am eager to get my bike out and go for a ride. No doubt many of you are also looking forward to outdoor activities and getting back into shape after a long winter. And while physical health is vitally important and explicitly part of TCMC’s mission statement, so is emotional health. A healthy man may be able to run a marathon or swim across a lake, but he also knows how to reach out for emotional support when he needs it, and how to talk about his feelings in an honest way.

When I mention TCMC to someone I’ve just met, I sometimes hear, “Oh yeah, that’s for gay men, right?” I always answer, “Absolutely,” and go on to say that it’s also for bisexual men, straight men, and frankly, all men. Not only does our sexual orientation not define us as men, neither do the myriad other labels that are often used to slice and dice people into tidy categories. And though we are all individuals, with unique strengths, weaknesses, dreams and aspirations, as men, we share a common experience that makes each of us ideally suited to helping other men through difficult times.

When I attended my first TCMC support group years ago, I was so nervous about the very idea of men sitting in a circle talking about their feelings, I’m sure I would have bolted from the room like a startled deer had someone made a sudden movement. Fortunately I stayed, and was astonished to learn that though I had not previously met any of the other men present, they knew almost exactly how I felt about a wide range of troubling issues. And that’s the ‘magic secret’ of TCMC’s support groups - though our life stories, and the labels we could use to describe each other are incredibly varied, the feelings we have about the events in our lives are remarkably consistent. By sharing them with a supportive and understanding audience we realize we are not alone, and that whatever our specific problems, there is a positive way forward.

So as you tune up your bike or shop for a new pair of running shoes, don’t forget your emotional fitness. Consider this your invitation to check out a TCMC support group and flex your feelings muscles.

TCMC’s “Brothers Helping Brothers” Fund Raising Drive

To help support rising operating expenses for the coming year, the Twin Cities Men’s Center initiated a campaign to raise $5,000 over the next 6 months. During this time, TCMC’s fundraising task group will seek individual donations by contacting members directly by phone and e-mail. We choose a fund raising drive as an alternative to raising membership rates. Membership rates remain the same to keep things affordable for all program participants. “Brothers Helping Brothers” provides quick and easy means to donate for those who can afford to do so.

Go to www.tcmc.org / click “Donate”

To make a tax-deductible contribution, simply go to TCMC’s website, www.tcmc.org, and click “Donate” in the lefthand navigation bar. Contributions by personal check, payable to TCMC, can be directed to TCMC’s office:
Twin Cities Men’s Center
“Brothers Helping Brothers”
3249 Hennepin Ave. So., #55

We’ve already raised $2350!
Let’s make it $4000 by the next Men Talk issue.

PRESENTATIONS

Nearly every Wednesday evening, the Men’s Center is proud to offer a presentation on a wide range of subjects of interest to men as well as to the wider community. This tradition has been part of the Men’s Center offering since it’s founding 34 years ago. These drop-in meetings require no pre-registration, and volunteer experts in the respective subjects conduct them all. Because of our primary mission, all presentations are for men only unless it is otherwise indicated in the individual descriptions.

Please read through these various descriptions to determine which is of interest to you, and consider bringing a friend. This could be an excellent introduction to the Men’s Center for them. Each presentation is intended to foster personal growth and to stimulate interest in the topic.

Our presenters include: Jim Gerharter, Harry Greenberg, Nancy Helland, Bob Manson, Andy Mickel, Shane Nygaard, and Linda Wray.

A small fee is collected at the door for each person attending:
- Non-Members of TMC – $5.
- Regular Members ($20 level) – $3
- Sustaining Members – FREE

All presentations meet at The Men’s Center, 3249 Hennepin Ave. So, Suite 55 Minneapolis, MN 55408

We welcome your suggestions for new topics and presenters. Please call Randy at 612-822-5892 with your ideas.

The Men’s Center does not endorse, take a specific position, nor does it hold any opinion on the presentations, or of any information imparted, or of the presenter(s) themselves. Presentations are the sole product and responsibility of the presenter(s).

A Circle of Warriors
Presenter: Andy Mickel
When: Wed, Apr. 14, 7:00-9:00 pm

The Mankind Project is an organization of men working together to improve their lives and help other men. As New Warriors “We are an order of men called to reclaim the sacred masculine provides a model for men to generate and maintain a world in such a way as to include and yet rise above one's own issues for the betterment of one's self, one's own family, tribe, nation and race.”

We are all familiar with a man's physical tools (a hammer, a sword, a plow, ...). Is this enough? What about integrity, commitment, action and clarity? I know that most men want and need these tools. The New Warrior Training Adventure can help. Join a circle of warriors to ask questions and hear how the adventure has changed men's lives.

"The initiation of men is the hope of the world." - Don Jones, former chairman, ManKind Project.

Dealing with Sexual Addiction in Everyday Life
Presenter: Nancy Helland
When: Wed, Apr. 21, 7:00-9:00 pm
Open to Men and Women

Sexual Addiction effects both men and women. The stigma it has, is shaming. The shame, I think is what prevents us from seeking help and support. In my 20 years dealing with this issue, open support is what I have been searching for. Without judgment and no "being on and off the wagon". In my presentation I will discuss some of the following issues: Awareness, Stress management, triggers, obsessive compulsive behaviors, and boundaries for ourselves and each other. My hope is to start an open discussion and support group open to everyone. Please come.

Nancy Helland brings her years of experience around this issue, and is considering starting a support group at the Men's Center.

Managing Sanity and Resilience Through Divorce/Uncoupling
Presenter: Harry Greenberg
When: Wed, Apr. 28, 7:00-9:00 pm
Open to Men and Women

Divorce or leaving a long-term relationship is often a profoundly life-changing event, but everyone experiences the process differently. What is often helpful is an understanding of both the intellectual and emotional contours of the journey.

In this experiential and participant focused workshop, we will explore a variety of factors that play a major role in how one understands, and manages the divorce process, reviewing behaviors to avoid and strategies to employ.

Harry Greenberg is an educator, social worker, and social justice activist. He received his masters degree in social work and his teaching license from the University of Minnesota. He is licensed as a graduate social worker in the state of Minnesota. He has been involved in divorce education since 2000 working at both Storefront and Chrysalis. Much of his passion in this topic came about through the lessons learned in his own divorce. His work as an educator and counselor focus on client self-empowerment, user-friendly education, and the use of narrative and solution focused inquiry.

Gay Mysticism, part II
Song of the Soul: The Voice of the Sacred Feminine
Presenter: Shane Nygaard
When: Wed, May 19, 7:00-9:00 pm
Open to Men and Women

In a follow-up to the intro to Gay Mysticism, this is the next presentation to help bring us into a deeper and more personable understanding of the soul of the gay community. “Song of the Soul: The Voice of the Sacred Feminine” will be a focused look into the Sacred Feminine and the connection with the vital and exquisite roles each of us in the gay community has in rebirthing her presence on the planet. What is your individual role? How do you begin to know it? Why is this important to know? Through a look at the symbolism of Archetypes, historical perspectives, and modern-day examples, we will explore a further understanding of the essential qualities we as gay people bring to today’s constantly-shifting world. Come listen!

Shane M. Nygaard earned his BA degree in Theater at the University of Minnesota, with a particular focus on Musical Theater. He is a CMED Institute Certified Archetypal Consultant, having completed the Sacred Contracts course taught by Caroline Myss and additional faculty including Andrew Harvey and Jim Curtan. He currently runs local groups focused on Poetry, Poetry Writing and Archetype Casting for Actors.

Do you feel like you are the only one this has ever happened to? It's not true that men/boys cannot be raped or otherwise sexually abused. Many boys have survived abuse at the hands of parents (both Mothers and Fathers), relatives, siblings, neighbors, clergy and strangers. Early sexual experiences do not make a boy “lucky”; they can cause lasting feelings of being used and make adult intimacy difficult. You are not alone. You are not to blame. We provide a place where it is safe for survivors to talk. It is helpful to be heard by others who know what you are saying is true.

Call 612-822-5892 if you are interested in this group because it's not a “drop-in” group.

- Thursdays
  7:00 - 9:00 pm

This group is a safe, non-confrontational, non-judgmental place to talk with other men about healthy sexual boundaries.

- Saturdays
  10:00 am - 12:00 pm

Boundaries for Men in SO Treatment

Some men occasionally think about their sexual boundaries and how their behavior has affected others. Other men never have to think about how their sexual behaviors has harmed someone. And, then there are a few men, who think about how their sexual behaviors have harmed others all the time. If you are among this last group of men, then it may be that you have served time in a correctional facility and are participating within a sex offender treatment program. This support group is for men who are currently in or have graduated from a sex offender treatment program. Men who would like to participate in this group for the first time are encouraged to call the TCMC office and leave a message for the facilitator of this group.
