Beyond #MeToo: The Complexity of Empire Consciousness, Domination and Control

No one group has the corner on Empire Consciousness.

Empire Consciousness pervades all groups of people. Because of fear, scarcity thinking, anxiety, and the concept of the “survival of the fittest,” we have always experienced domination, control, genocide, bullying, oppression. This thinking has created empires — including the Roman Empire, the Ottoman Empire, The British Empire, the American Empire. It is often justified by undermining the worth of the oppressed -- seeing them as lesser beings.

This also means that some people in any oppressed group can try to dominate and control others. Empire Consciousness is responsible for the genocide of Jews and Native Americans among others, bullying by girls and boys in schools, and domination by older siblings in families.

Hierarchy, pecking order, getting to the top are part of many cultural norms. Winner and losers. Most sports have winners and losers.

So — to blame one group for Empire Consciousness is simplistic and naive. Any oppressed group — women, African Americans, gay and lesbian people — have the capacity to dominate and bully others.

The alternative to Empire Consciousness is Oneness Consciousness — the belief that we are all equal, worthy, and deserving of care, compassion and respect. Oneness Consciousness focuses on love, abundance, and providing enough for all.

The recent shutdown of the United States government resulted in almost a million federal employees not getting paid for their labor. This is Empire Consciousness and slavery in our very midst. Slavery has always existed.

It is easy to single out a group and blame them for this Empire Consciousness. However, all people may respond this way when they are put in a scary, fight/flight situation.

It goes beyond merely appreciating people for what they accomplish but believing that at their core, all people are children of the Universe, Divinely created beings, worthy of love.

Have experienced intense bullying (physical, emotional degradation) in elementary school by a group of 7 boys, I am more complex than “a man with White Privilege.” I am sure that I bullied my little sister when I was young.

Some of the bullies who abused me were beaten by their parents. Some of them had alcoholic parents who were racist, homophobic, and emotionally absent. So, the bullies themselves were the victims of oppression.

The male socialization process in America encourages domination, control, being right, using force to get one's way, not trusting others, and denying inner vulnerability. This is protective device. “If you can't feel anything, you won't really be hurt.” It is faulty thinking. Most boys experience this type of programming from parents, families, schools, media, peers, and society at large. It sets boys up for rage, depression, and anxiety as they spend their lives grieving those lost or hidden parts of themselves.

Being objectified, being seen as disposable, men and boys do the dirty work of fighting the wars, and working in the coal mines and sewers. Men are taught that they are objects, and so it is easy to objectify others, including women.

Somebody has to do it.

So, let us look more closely at power issues, and see the complexly woven dynamic of Empire Consciousness and how it pervades our everyday lives.

I’m baffled that I am writing this letter for the December 2019/January 2020 issues of the TCMC Mentalk. I don’t know where the year went, but it’s been quite the ride for me. I’ve spent a lot of time this year discovering myself, giving thought to the next chapter in my life, and cleaning up my personal endeavors.

I’m typing this letter at the ripe age of 39. When you read it I will be a young 40 years old and I am still trying to figure out what turning 40 mean for me. I ask myself the following questions: What have I done with my life? What have I not done with my life? Have I done enough thus far? What should I be doing? What new habits do I need to adopt and what old habits do I need to let go? Is this what they call a “mid-life” crisis?

While I am stills answering these questions for myself TCMC has given me the foundation to ask these questions and a safe space to answer them. My term this year as board chair was quite difficult for me. I suffered from fatigue from the highs of 2018 and I think it impacted the board.

As I look forward to 2020 my personal goal for myself and for TCMC is to step forward with clear purpose. Focusing on those things that will positively impact the bottom line and nurture sustainable growth. I look forward to the induction of the Support Group Committee led by Board Member Dr Jesse Mason, and I look forward to working with new talent that have stepped up to serve TCMC.

In closing please join us by donating to the 2019 “Paying it Forward” Campaign were our goal is to raise $9000 by December 31, 2019. Donations can be made online at TCMC.org. The goal appears to be aggressive, but John Hesch our Anger Management Director has graciously offered to match up to $4500 raised which will count towards our $9000 goal. Also, please consider attending the 2020 TCMC Annual Meeting on January 11, 2020 at 9am at TCMC.

PRESENTATIONS

The Twin Cities Men’s Center has been an important voice in the community for 43 years providing classes and support groups promoting personal growth to many men and women. Professional leaders in the community have led weekly presentations providing a wide opportunity for educational, spiritual and emotional growth for 31 years.

In recent years, attendance of the presentations by TCMC supporters has diminished to the extent that the TCMC Board of Directors has agreed to schedule them intermittently as the interest arises.

The 1st Wednesday of the month Family Law Clinic will continue by providing legal support for those experiencing legal issues.

The Board wishes to express appreciation to the supporters who attended the presentations and the many volunteer professionals who gave their time and talent to support a strong educational component of the TCMC mission.

A small fee is collected at the door for each person attending:
- Non-Members of TCMC – $5
- Regular Members ($25 level) – $3
- Sustaining Members – FREE

All presentations, classes, and clinics meet at The Men’s Center, 3249 Hennepin Ave. So., Suite 55, Minneapolis, MN 55408 (unless otherwise noted).

The Twin Cities Men’s Center does not endorse, take no specific position, nor holds any opinion on the presentations, or of any information imparted, or of the presenter(s) themselves. Presentations are the sole product and responsibility of the presenter(s).

Have you been told that your verbal and emotional expression of anger is out of control? Have you lost your job or spouse because you “blew up” one too many times? Have you been hit with a court order to take an Anger Management Class? Learn how to manage your feelings with the Twin Cities Anger Management Program. This is one of the best, and most affordable, programs in the area. It’s ideal for men who desire to significantly improve their relationships at home and at work.

The focus of the twelve week anger management class is both education and support. The 5 Stages of Love and Your Mid-Life Marriage: How to Prevent a Divorce and Survive the Disillusionment Stage After Age 40. Are you over 40? Have you lost that loving feeling? Are you worried your marriage might fail? Is one of you withdrawing from the relationship, while the other is desperately holding on? Too many mid-life marriages go under, just when the couple could finally be enjoying their time together. If you answered “yes,” to any of these questions, I hope you’ll read on.

After working with thousands of couples for more than forty years, I know how difficult a time this can be. First, mid-life itself turns out to be the most difficult stage of life for most people. Studies from around the world show that people are happier when they are younger and get happier again later in life. But the stresses of life between 40 and 60 weigh heavily on people.

The statistics are not heartening. Somewhere around 50% of first marriages end in divorce and 60% of second marriages end badly. Even marriages that stay together are not always happy and many people deal with emotional problems as a result. Divorce rates for adults over forty have doubled in the last twenty-five years.

Anyone who has gone through a mid-life divorce knows how devastating it can be. There is the loss of the dream of happiness at this stage of life as we remember the words of the poet Robert Browning, “Grow old along with me, the best is yet to be.” There is also the loss of financial stability as a couple dismantles all they’ve built over the years. Finally, there’s the prospect of starting over and rebuilding a life when you are 40, 50, or 60. Fortunately, there is a way to prevent the mid-life marriage meltdown so many people fear. There is a way to move forward to a life that is even more passionate, powerful, and productive than ever before. You can achieve real, lasting, love.

Helping Men Recover is the first gender-responsive, trauma-informed treatment program for men. The materials, based on the widely used, evidence-based women’s curriculum, Helping Women Recover, are grounded in research, theory, and clinical practice. Included in this package are a facilitator’s guide and a participant’s workbook.

These materials are an ideal resource for drug and alcohol counselors, mental health professionals, and program administrators for outpatient, residential, and community-based treatment centers. Helping Men Recover is presented in an eighteen-session format. The facilitator’s guide offers a step-by-step manual that contains the theory, structure, and content needed to run effective groups. The participant’s workbook is designed so that men can process, record, and refer back to their therapeutic experience.

The program model is organized into four modules: self, relationships, sexuality, and spirituality. These are the four areas that recovering men have identified as triggers for relapse and as necessary for growth and healing. In addition, all the materials are designed to be user-friendly and self-instructive.
