A gathering of men in a time of upheaval and change

Picture this: on the evening of Friday, September 18, 2020, one by one, men from all over the globe — North America, Europe, Australia — click on a link in an email invitation, and found themselves ushered into a “virtual lodge”, a space filled with mystery, wonder, welcome, and a sense of anticipation and not-knowing what to expect. A space where all men are welcomed and shown respect, and all are invited to help create a safe place for us all to encounter the unknown — the mystery woven into and through what may look like everyday life.

One of the guest teachers, Miguel Rivera, guides us in our preparations. Each man is invited to create for himself his own version of this safe, sacred space — (we have been asked to gather some elements of the earth to help us include the nature and beauty that surround us) with these we then welcome these elements and then leave, and step once again over the threshold into this carefully prepared space, leaving behind us the “everyday world” and now entering our own virtual lodge in the company of perhaps seventy men around the globe, each doing likewise. We are now all welcomed again into this virtual lodge, this place of safety and camaraderie.

After some formalities and some informal sharing and hellos, we are offered some poetry, and remembrances of those who are no longer with us.

Now it’s time for a story — this one from a remote arctic people from the wilds of Siberia.

Our masterful storyteller, Walton Stanley, begins, and soon we are taken on an incredible, wild adventure, into a world altogether alien (to my world, anyway) with encounter after encounter with one challenge or confusing riddle after another, until the story comes to a close, for tonight, with our hero (and ourselves) exhausted, lost in a foreign sea, under a dark sky with no stars to guide us...well, you get the picture.

With the remaining time before closing for the night, we break out into smaller groups to share what’s happening for us right now, with all these images still fresh in our minds, and gather everyone again before closing to hear what we wish with the large group.

Then it’s off to sleep with the invitation to pay attention to our dream world.

Saturday a.m. after sharing some comments on dreams, we hear a fascinating talk by Joel Glanzberg, author of the upcoming book, Pattern Mind. Joel has thought long and deeply about how we humans have related (or not) to our planet and our fellow non-human neighbors (plant and animal). This is followed by a moving conversation about ways we as humans have been, are, and might be, in relation to the world we have inherited — and what we have done, or failed to do, to notice it, respect it, and relate to it.

The third segment — Saturday afternoon. Our storyteller concludes the tale and we again share about how this hits us — where it hits us — and anything else we might wish to address.

We share our many comments and last minute thanks to a truly masterful staff who have made this time together possible.

And I am left marveling at how we have all made this short weekend of deep sharing and exploration actually happen in what, by clock time, might be seen as just three two-hour segments, but in “ritual time”, was so much more.

More than one man commented that this was made possible for us by those invisible (but palpable) threads that weave through all of creation, and that resonate for those of us who reach out to touch them and listen to their song.

I’m looking for suggestions on what I can do to organize the library and make it more user friendly. What would people like to see in the library? They can text or email me suggestions at 612-275-5861 or jeffreyscotspringer@gmail.com.

The books in the Men’s Center Library are sectioned off into 14 categories. Letter from the Chair

While 2020 has been the most challenging year of my 41 years on this earth; it’s also been a year filled with great opportunity for personal growth, reflection, and healing. I’ve developed a deep appreciation for my life and to recognize and appreciate the village that have provided me the tools and resources necessary build that life.

While this year has been filled with a lot of unknowns for TCMC with the support of the board of directors, our office manager, volunteers, members, and supporters we have persevered. Not only have we persevered financially, but we’ve built capacity by making our support group available online and via conference call, Anger Management has moved online attracting participants local and afar, and a new taskforce committee has emerged called Securing our Future Taskforce under the leadership of Alt Board member/past Board Chair Joe S.

As we propel into 2021, please be reminded that TCMC can use your leadership and talents. In January we have a couple of board seats open, there is a need for committee volunteers including Anger Management support, and a need to expand our support groups. Mark your calendars for the TCMC Annual meeting set for January 9, 2021 at 9am. Your attendance is requested and for your safety and convenience the meeting will be held online via zoom. A formal invitation will be sent to the membership with the zoom link.

In closing, thank you for allowing me to serve as the TCMC board chair for the past 3 years. Being in this position has taught me a lot about myself and more importantly have forced me to acknowledge the gaps in my leadership style that still need developing. While I will not be returning to the board next year, I am committed to continue serving TCMC as a volunteer.

Damon Starks
TCMC Board Chair

1976 IN Our 44th Year of Public Service 2020
The Twin Cities Men's Center has been an important voice in the community for 44 years providing classes and support groups promoting personal growth to many men and women. Professional leaders in the community have led weekly presentations providing a wide opportunity for educational, spiritual and emotional growth for 32 years. In recent years, attendance of the presentations by TCMC supporters has diminished to the extent that the TCMC Board of Directors has agreed to schedule them intermittently as the interest arises. The 1st Wednesday of the month Family Law Clinic will continue by providing legal support for those experiencing legal issues.

The Board wishes to express appreciation to the supporters who attended the presentations and the many volunteer professionals who gave their time and talent to support a strong educational component of the TCMC mission.

A small fee is collected at the door for each person attending:
- Non-Members of TCMC – $5
- Regular Members ($25 level) – $3
- Sustaining Members – FREE

All presentations, classes, and clinics meet by phone or video chat until Dec 31, 2020. Beginning 2021, we plan to resume meeting in-person at The Men's Center, 3249 Hennepin Ave. So, Suite 55, Minneapolis, MN 55408 (unless otherwise noted).

The Twin Cities Men's Center does not endorse, take no specific position, nor holds any opinion on the presentations, or of any information imparted, or of the presenter(s) themselves. Presentations are the sole product and responsibility of the presenter(s).

Removing the Guard Rails: Medicine through Relationships
TCMC Race & Class Session #3:
Saturday, January 16, 2020
10:00am-2:00pm, Zoom Video

Since 1976, men have been discovering the Twin Cities Men's Center to find emotional support from other men — in all of life's transformation situations: discovering who I am and what I want; experiencing the end of a marriage or a relationship breakup; exploring sexuality; learning about father-son relationships; facing retirement; re-entering society after a time-out in prison; managing expression of anger, etc. The Twin Cities Men’s Center has been creating trusting, life-giving, creativity, co-learning spaces and places for over 44 years.

Now through the Twin Cities Men’s Center “Securing Our Future Taskforce” (SoFT) comes a Courageous Conversations and Relationship building series for participants to discuss race and class in their lives that combines discussion and action.

This series of 3 Race and Class discussions will be ongoing group conversations to eliminate racism and tackle class divisions by establishing an ongoing learning process and thus creating a willingness to learn about, begin, and undoing the adverse impact of race and class on men, organizations, and communities. The first class was on Nov 7th and the second class was Dec. 10th.

Please sign up for this conversation by contacting the Twin Cities Men's Center at tcmc@tcmc.org or 612-822-5892

OUTDOOR Monthly Men’s Sunday Brunches to resume in April or May 2021. October’s OUTDOORS at Tom Borden’s, was attended by 7 men in cold, grey weather, but camaraderie was experienced by all! – Andy Mickel, 2020-11-17.

“Tom, I truly admire your care for me and the TC mens community. As men we struggle, fail, get sad, get mad, and get screwed over by gender politics, you understand and offer an ear for men and women. Keep doing your great work helping men of all types. Yet also spend time to care for yourself - stay positive. A humble heartfelt thank you! Much respect! Best,” – Jeremy S, 2020-09-29.

“I FINISHED 100 MILES FOR HOPE, is at http://www.legiontown.org/100-miles/7213/100-miles-and-more-finished-guardians-mississippi#.X6lHnW7jCHg.gmail

I WALKED 100 MILES for VETERAN RESILIENCE PROJECT, because I was drafted in 1970 and served as a medic during the War in Vietnam. I was helped enormously, years ago, using my own insurance to access the EMDR therapy VRP makes available at no cost to veterans, whether or not they are VA eligible. My experience was similar to that of thousands of trauma survivors worldwide for over 30 years. For most trauma, there is nothing better.

I WALKED 100 MILES for VETERAN RESILIENCE PROJECT because “once a medic, always a medic”, and VRP can help. I came home at a time that over 50,000 American soldiers did not. Far too many are not returning today, or return not at all who they were when they left. We can almost instantly raise massive sums of money to fund stadiums and sports teams, send young men and women into harm’s way, or to elect the candidates of our choice. Then we continue, as a Nation, to mumble weakly, “Well, we’re working on it” when too many veterans take their own lives, or simply remain unable to play sports in the neighborhood, care for their family, or function adequately at a job.” – Larry Johnson, Veteran/Medic/VRP Volunteer, 2020-11-15.

Excerpt from: The 5 Stages of Love and What A Man Must Do to Save His Marriage

“…Stage 5: You must find your manhood in the company of other men. My father was an angry man who became increasingly depressed when he couldn’t make a living to support his family. He eventually had “a nervous breakdown,” was hospitalized and left. I was raised by my mother. “A father may be physically present, but absent in spirit,” says author James Hollis. “His absence may be literal through death, divorce or dysfunction, but more often it is a symbolic absence through silence and the inability to transmit what he also may not have acquired.” Without a presence of a loving, engaged, caring father, men grow up “with a hole in their soul in the shape of their dad,” says Roland Warren, former President of the National Fatherhood Initiative.

My wife, Carlin, and I have been married now for 40 years. She attributes the success of our marriage, in large part, due to my 41-year participation in a men’s group. The poet Robert Bly said that “Young men must be in the presence of older men in order to hear the sound that male cells sing.” Whether we had an engaged father or not, we can heal the father wound and fill the hole in our collective souls by being part of a men’s group. It’s not surprising that the first rule in 12 Rules for Good Men is to join a men’s group.

Men can’t be fully alive to themselves, to the women they love, to their families and friends, unless they understand and embrace their maleness...”

Have You Overcome Adversity? Would You Like to Earn $20?

Jane Gilgun, Professor, University of Minnesota, Twin Cities is looking for men to interview for research on success stories, stories of men who have coped with and overcome adversities. She pays $20 per interview. She typically does three interviews because she want men to tell me their life stories, and this can take time. The first interview is for men to learn about the research. They will receive $20 for that interview whether or not they choose to be part of the research. If interested, men can text or leave a voice message at 612-237-6126. All are welcome.
