About The Men’s Center

The Twin Cities Men’s Center is a non-profit organization supported by donations, contributions at meetings, memberships and grants from various sources.

Established in 1976, the Men's Center exists to help men find support and empowerment from other men and offers a variety of educational forums, peer support groups, and other activities to foster emotional, intellectual, and spiritual growth. A major goal is to serve as a clearinghouse of resources for all Twin Cities men who are freeing, growing and healing.

Our Mission

The Men’s Center provides resources for men seeking to grow in body, mind and spirit, and from that foundation advocates for healthier family and community relationships.

Our Values

1. We believe men can and should support each other through times of personal challenge and change.
2. We believe in authenticity, which means acknowledging to ourselves and each other our hopes, fears, strengths and weaknesses as men seeking to grow.
3. We believe in honesty among men, which means men freely expressing themselves emotionally, socially, intellectually and spiritually in ways true to their own growth and masculinities.
4. We believe in respecting diversity and mutuality in our support groups, workshops, conferences and outreach activities which means supporting and empowering all men.
5. We believe in the equality of men and women.
6. We believe in recognizing and appreciating our similarities and differences as humans of all races and national origins, and in the process fostering mutual respect and brotherhood for us all.
7. We believe in the power of our common humanity, which means regardless of our sexual orientations, gender identities, or other issues that separate us, what we have in common transcends our differences.

Sexual Trauma & Abuse Drop-In Support Group

You may feel alone. It is a brave step to seek out other people who can share from this perspective the deep feelings of shame.

Meets by Video Chat every Thursday, 7:30 – 9:30 p.m.
About the Sexual Trauma & Abuse Survivors Support Group

Many adults have been sexually abused in childhood or adolescence, or have experienced sexual trauma as adults. Whether you have clear memories or vague recollections, perhaps you experience feelings of shame, self-hate, guilt, fear, anger, grief, or embarrassment.

Sharing your story and feelings with others can release these feelings, while creating and renewing patterns of comfortable, healthy, and rewarding interactions with people of both sexes.

This group is for all genders who have experienced sexual abuse and assault. It is also for their loved ones, professionals, educators, clergy, law enforcement, students and others interested in this issue. Topics might be discussed such as: intimacy after childhood abuse, sexual abuse in the military, the effects of clergy abuse, leaving an abusive relationship, and others.

Come to the Sexual Trauma and Abuse Survivors support group where you will find other people who have been through similar life challenges and are always ready to listen. This support group provides a safe environment to share your experiences and learn about how others are coping with these issues. Join us in developing healthier attitudes and behaviors that transform us from survivors into living life to the fullest.

About Men’s Center Drop-In Support Groups

The Mission of the Men’s Center Support Groups is to create a safe place, in times of personal and social challenge, for any men and women to receive and to give support to one another; to share feelings and experiences which facilitates self-acceptance and personal growth.

In this support group you will find no one analyzing you or telling you anything about yourself, in fact, we actively discourage advice giving. What you will hear is other people’s experiences, and you will be given the opportunity to tell your story in a confidential and non-judgmental atmosphere of support.

Most importantly, you will be encouraged to take time to examine your feelings about any issue you want; to truly examine who you are on an emotional level (something few men do). We refer to this as “getting some work done” and we think you will find it a truly wonderful experience!

We encourage you to use “I” statements. An example of this is: “I feel angry when you step on my toes.” as opposed to “You make me feel angry when you do that.” Using “I” statements clearly demonstrates taking responsibility for your feelings. Obvious examples of judging are “You are a mean person.” or “People who do that are sick.” but many judgments are more subtle. We want to avoid judgment not only because there is no one qualified to judge others’ issues, but also we believe it’s not our job to declare right from wrong, but rather to help people decide for themselves.

Common Questions

Q. Do I need to pre-register?
A. No, just come when you are ready.

Q. Is it confidential?
A. Yes, participants only use their first name. The Men’s Center never reveals attendance information.

Q. Can I bring my partner / wife / lover / friend / roommate?
A. We recommend that people who live together or are in the same love relationship not participate in the same support groups.

Q. How much does the group cost?
A. Funding for the Men’s Center comes primarily from memberships and donations from support groups. At the end of every meeting an envelope is passed and we ask for $3-$7, or what ever you can afford that night (no one is ever turned away for lack of funds). Consider membership!

Q. How do I become a member of the Men’s Center?
A. Use the All-Purpose Form in this brochure.

Q. Is a support group like therapy?
A. No. In a support group your reality is confirmed and validated. In therapy you are encouraged to change your orientation to the world.

Q. What are the other Men’s Center support groups and classes?
A. Anger Management, Bi-Men, Divorce & Uncoupling, Gay Issues, General Men’s Issues, Healthy Sexual Boundaries, Retirement, Sexual Trauma & Abuse Survivors, and Transition.

Q. Are there support groups for men outside the Twin Cities Metro?
A. While the Men’s Center doesn’t currently have any, we do maintain a list of resources on our web site, www.tcmc.org.
